DEMOCRACY LAUDED

(Special to The Review)

PHOENIX, Oct. 19.—John O. Dunbar, the veteran editor of Arizona, who is at the helm of the Arizona Democrat and who with other democrats have purchased the entire interests of the Pacific Gas and Electric company in the Democrat has issued the following statement in which he declared his unbounded faith in the democratic party and his faithful adherence to democratic principles. The statement follows:

To the People of Arizona: Believing in the future of our country, unbounded—believing in the future of the democratic party upon which the democratic party was founded and feeling that these principles should have in Arizona the best advocate, a number of the best known democrats in the state have this day joined with me in the purchase of the Arizona Democrat from the Pacific Gas & Electric company. Every share of stock owned by the Pacific Gas & Electric company in the Democrat has been purchased by these men and myself and the paper today stands free of all debts and encumbrances.

Stands for Upbuilding. The Democrat stands for the upbuilding and development of every industry in this state and at no time will this paper be found supporting or advocating the cause of any particular man, clique or set of men. Every member of the democratic party in Arizona—be he conservative or progressive—is a democrat in the eyes of this paper and every deserving democrat will receive our loyal and hearty support.

Believing that the passing of this paper from the hands of the Pacific Gas & Electric company to the new owners will be of interest to the people of Arizona I make this announcement.

INTERESTING PROGRAM AT THE ROYAL THEATER

The Royal Theater announces a complete change of program which will be the bill for today and tomorrow.

"Pathe's Weekly," the first picture on the program, is the most interesting of motion picture productions. In this number is shown in picture some of the most interesting of the current events of the week.

"The Harbinger of Peace" is an interesting rural drama telling how a neighboring feud originating from a trespassing cow lasted until the birth of a chubby little grandson. "Twas then that the pride of posterity moved the angry hearts to a paragon of kindness."

"The Last Dance." One of the sweetest stories ever pictured is this romance of a dancing girl.

Miss Winifred Greenwood, the Selig company's leading lady, plays the leading role, that of Mignon, the dancing girl, and those who saw the private exhibition of this picture in the Selig vaults a few days since declare that Miss Greenwood's work in this part is, without doubt, the best she has yet done in the silent drama.

"The $2,500 Bride," is one of the best comedies that has been seen in Bisbee this season; a laugh in every foot. Get the Royal Habit and wear that Royal smile.—Advertisement.

To Loosen Window.

To loosen windows that move hard, melt a tablespoonful of lard and pour a little between the window frame and casing, and on the roller and rope. It works well, says "Suburban Life," and is a good thing to know in the spring time, when frames are swollen from being closed all winter.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

To make use of a popular expression, the local council of the above fraternity has been "going some" of late, following the annual election of officers on Wednesday evening Oct. 23d, the monthly dance took place in the K. of C. Hall Friday evening, Oct. 25th and was voted a most enjoyable affair by the fifty couples present.

On Sunday the 19th there occurred initiation in the First, Second and Third degrees, followed by a banquet and supper for the members. Visible among the speakers of the evening were Bro. Jesse Boyce of Phoenix, Bro. Brady O'Neill of Tucson and Bro. Bigley of Flagstaff while local talent was well represented by Bros. F. E. Cole, J. D. Connolly, L. M. Kelly and Joe Lutz.

On the night of Monday the 14th last, the Chapman-Meade Co. produced the play "Kathleen Mavourneen" for the benefit of the Knights of Columbus, the house being crowded to its full capacity and the play proving a success in every way. On Monday night October 22nd the local stock company will again play for the benefit of the K. of C., this time offering the famous drama "The Parish at Night" Wednesday evening's meeting of the Council a debate is scheduled to take place, the subject being the oft-discussed one of the relative merits of Washington and Lincoln.

Judging from the activity of the members of this Council, now numbering over 200, it is clear that the Knights of Columbus will be among the foremost of the local organization in providing entertainment during the coming winter season.

BAZAAR DRAWS NEAR

Three weeks from next Tuesday marks the opening of the Elks Bazaar and the committee is growing busier each day and hustling harder and harder. It was thought that the Bazaar that preceded the opening of the new home two years ago did splendidly to raise $2,300 but the present committee considers that figure fifty per cent too small and will be satisfied with nothing less than $5000 claiming that times are better and there are now in the district more people and those more prosperous than two years ago. The committee meets each Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and Chairman Jack McGregor states that the meeting to be held today is the most important up to this date. The Douglas excursion will in a large measure be a booster trip and upon its success will depend the attendance from Douglas on Douglas night the last night of the fair.

Give up Meeting. The Knights of Pythias ever generous, are showing that quality this week when they give up their regular meeting night so that a benefit dance may be held. This dance is termed "An Old Country Dance" and presents a number of novel features. The proceeds will be devoted to the worthy object of paying the expenses back to the old country of a tubercular patient, a resident of Lowell, and the members of his family.

Join Pythian Sisters. Last Tuesday night, being the third Tuesday of the month was the meeting night of the Pythian sisters at Pythian Castle. Initiatory ceremonies were held and three new members were admitted. This order has never been more prosperous than now and a number of new members will shortly be admitted.

On To Douglas. An army of invasion is being raised by Elks lodge 671 B. P. O. E. and the slogan of on to Douglas is heard on all sides. This has arisen in response to the invitation issued by the Douglas lodge of Elks to their Bisbee brothers to attend a smoker and is the return visit for that paid by Douglas to Bisbee early last summer when the lowlanders invaded this city so strong. Bisbee intends to go to Douglas at least twenty better and the committee is justifying to that end. Already forty have signed up for the trip and it is expected that at least 100 and probably 125 of the local antlered herd will leave for the smelter city at 8:30 Saturday evening. A bunch of the live ones have decided that the only way to go it to go right and with a musical accompaniment and so these aforesaid live wires have determined to take the land. After the meeting on Friday evening it was found that the enrollment had reached the forty mark and that separate subscriptions brought the band fund to one third of the required amount. All of this had been obtained without going outside the club house and this week a personal canvass will be made by the committee.

Cananeans in Bisbee. When there is a bunch of Cananeans in Bisbee there is always something doing. This is more true when that bunch is composed of Eagles as was the case last night. The local Aerie had made preparations for the entertainment of their guests and Fair Hall was crowded with Eagles and guests to witness the splendid program that the entertainment committee had prepared. And it was the jolliest of jolly crowds that gathered. There was some good boxing on the cards which won hearty applause and there were made some good talks while the Eagles boasted hospitality lived up to its reputation and the bodily needs were not forgotten.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION FOR 1913.

The Youth's Companion appeals to every interest of family life, from housekeeping to athletics. It is a magazine of youthful vim and vigor, with articles which disclose the secrets of successful play in the great games, with charming tales of life at the girls' colleges. But the Companion does not surrender these readers when they have entered the more serious paths of life. Mothers will welcome the page for little children and the weekly doctor's article. Fathers will find the important news of the day as it is, and not as it is rumored to be. The entire household will appreciate the sketches which touch gently on common follies or caricature eccentricity. In short, for less than four cents a week The Companion brings into the home clean entertainment, pure inspiration, fine ideals, increase of knowledge.

Names rarely seen in tables of contents will be found in The Companion. Fathers will find the important news of the day as it is, and not as it is rumored to be. The entire household will appreciate the sketches which touch gently on common follies or caricature eccentricity. In short, for less than four cents a week The Companion brings into the home clean entertainment, pure inspiration, fine ideals, increase of knowledge.

Something to Think About. If a carp can live a century and a half and a pike live to be 267, why shouldn't a pike live to be 1000? Admitting that an elephant decays to live to be 100, and that one tusk has lived to be 250, and considering that a white-headed vulture has survived captivity almost fifteen decades, and that the cat who keeps you awake at night may not expire for 50 years, did Methuselah have much to boast of, after all?

Ancient Roman Custom.

By the customs of our country, if any person under punishment for a capital crime did not appear, an officer was sent to his door in the morning to summon him by sound of trumpet, and the judges would never pass sentence before so public a citation. So tender were our ancestors in any matter where the life of a citizen was concerned.—Cassius Gracchus about 122 B. C.

The Difference. When a man falls on a lot of orange peel, the first thing he does is to look back to see what it was; but the first thing a woman does is to look around to see if anyone saw her.—The Tailor.

THE DIFFERENCE.

When you have a bad cold you want the best medicine obtainable so as to cure it with as little delay as possible. Here is a druggist's opinion: "I have sold Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for fifteen years," says Edna Lollar of Saratoga, Ind., "and consider it the best on the market." Their Dinner Party

By Rosalie G. Mendel.

"I have an idea," exclaimed Marjory as she burst into the room, throwing her hat on the table, her coat on the chair and her gloves on the couch. The "B. A. C." sewing circle prepared to listen.

"Well," the boys of the "X. Y. Z." have been so perfectly lovely to us that I thought it would be nice for the "B. A. C." to give them a dinner party. What do you think, girls?"

"Splendid!" "Fine!" "Just dear!" "Good!" "Delightful!" were the replies.

"But let us make this a progressive dinner party," suggested Marjory. "Never heard of a progressive dinner," put in Lulu.

"A progressive dinner progresses—that's all!" explained the instigator of the plan. "You see, we all start at one girl's home and partake of the first course of a dinner. They proceed to another's for the second course, and so on until we finish with the dessert at the last house. See?"

"A perfect inspiration!" "Jolly!" "Simply wonderful!" "Marjory, you are a genius!" declared her friends.

"I'm glad it's going to be a dinner, because Dan is so fond of good things to eat," said Louise. "I'll take the dessert course. Our cook makes splendid meringues."

"Indeed not!" dissented Marjory. "Each girl must prepare her allotted dish without any assistance whatsoever. No mother, sister, sister-in-law, aunt, friend or servant will be allowed to help the hostess in preparing our dinner. Those X. Y. Z. boys think we can do nothing but golf and dance. Let us show them that we also know something about the culinary art!"

"Yes. Remember what the poet said about reaching a man's heart through his stomach," sighed the romantic Irma.

After much lively discussion in assigning the dinner course to the members, naming the escorts and issuing the official invitations to the X. Y. Z. club, the B. A. C. adjourned its weekly meeting.

The following Tuesday evening as the X. Y. Z.'s and the B. A. C.'s entered Lulu's house they found her in tears. She explained between sobs: "I just feel perfectly terrible! It's most embarrassing! But they never came! The artichokes, I mean! I've been telephoning frantically. Can get no satisfaction! Oh, it's dreadful!"

"Never mind!" said George soothingly. "We can live without artichokes. Don't worry, little girl. Let's proceed to the soup."

So with one accord they started for Irma's home.

The bouillon was brought in and the bouillon was taken out—lasted, and only tasted.

"I don't see how it happened! It's a mystery! Don't be polite and try to drink it, I beg of you. It's burnt, irretrievably burnt. The gas range is to blame. I'm mortified."

The guests consoled Irma as best they could.

Forward! Onward! was the watchword. "I'm getting kind of nervous," whispered Marjory to Lulu. "I hope my ducks are all right. They ought to be. I haven't thought of anything else for a week! I've seen ducks running around even in my dreams!"

Marjory's expression was a study as the crisp and brown fowls were placed before her at the dinner table. "My goodness! Impossible! How awful! What made me do it? I completely forgot to draw my ducks before placing them in the oven!"

A hungry crowd left Marjory's ducks and started for Louise's desert.

"It was meant for ice cream meringue, but the ice cream just wouldn't get hard," apologized Louise. "If you drink it like frappe it won't taste so bad! Our cook's meringues are always dreams!"

"Say, fellows, I'm beastly hungry!" declared Bob. "Let's go down town and give the girls a real dinner. They're all right, even if they don't know how to cook. Come on, before we perish with hunger."

As the B. A. C.'s and X. Y. Z.'s entered the restaurant the head waiter overheard Marjory suggest to her friends:

"Girls, suppose we change our sewing club into a cooking class?"

And the answer quickly came, "Suppose we do."

Cradle-Robbers. Two or three young men were exhibiting, with great satisfaction, the results of a day's fishing, whereupon this young woman remarked very demurely:

"Fish go in schools, do they not?" "I believe they do; but why do you ask?"

"Oh, nothing; only I was just thinking that you must have broken up an infant class."

Momentous Event. "Look at this picture! Where is that office boy of ours?" "What time is it?"

"Four thirty. Why do you ask?" "A train from the east is due at this hour. The office boy has probably gone to the station to see a new baseball pitcher arrive."

MESSAGE TO WORKING WOMEN

All women work; some in homes, some in church, some in the whirl of society, and in stores, offices, and shops, tens of thousands are on the never ceasing treadmill, earning their daily bread.

All women, however, are subject to the same physical laws and suffer alike from the same physical disturbances and weaknesses, peculiar to their sex. Every woman, no matter what her station in life, should remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the great remedy for female ills, in which she should place her trust.

NOTES FROM CANANEA

CANANEA, Son, Mex. Oct. 19.—Mrs. Frank Hillman died on last Saturday evening after a short illness with typhoid fever and other complications. The remains were taken to Detroit, Mich., for interment. Mrs. Hillman was a woman who was well liked by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance and she leaves a large number of friends to mourn her loss besides her immediate family.

Besides her husband, she leaves three children and a brother in Cananea.

A number of friends of the family accompanied the remains as far as Douglas.

Local members of the Elks lodge at Bisbee are planning to attend the burn-the-mortgage bazaar to be given at Bisbee on November 16. The local Elks are to give a dance on Nov. 1 at Chivatera and raise money to assist the Bisbee lodge's efforts to pay up its mortgage.

A necktie party was given by the Chivatera serenaders this evening.

The club is to give a hallowe'en party on Oct. 31. At this affair the ladies are invited to participate. The social committee is busy making the arrangements for the affair.

Trains are expected to be in operation on the Nogales branch of the Southern Pacific of Mexico lines within three weeks, according to Supt. M. J. Kingsbury, who is in Cananea at present. Crews of men are working at both ends and in the middle of the road.

A surprise party was tendered Mrs. J. L. Pope Thursday evening, it being in the nature of a farewell party, as she left Friday for Boston and other eastern points, to be absent for a month or two.

There has been no show at the Teatro Cananea since last Sunday night on account of the place closing on account of the raise made in its license from $1.40 to $6.00 a performance (Mexican Money). It is believed that arrangements will be completed for the opening of the play house within the coming week.

Why You Sigh. When anyone sighs unconsciously it means they have been taking short breaths and not drawing sufficient oxygen into the lungs. Finally, the lungs must have more oxygen, they are hungry for it, and so the lungs exert their right and actually force you to take in a great breath of air. This gives them the needed oxygen, and they can go on with their work for a while longer, when they will force another "sigh," which is in reality helping themselves to more oxygen in spite of yourself.

The Gold Age. It has been well said that nowadays people know the price of everything and the value of nothing.
